Date :2010-11-1. I considered, while mental arithmetic while the mouth is said to computing, is calculated with the brain, with the verbal description of the results to memory at the time. This method is mainly used for fast calculation, is a language just by thinking and activities of the calculation without using any tools made law, often training will help improve intelligence, has become today's mainstream computing methods. Relaxed and happy is the basis of interest, the book on the students relaxed and happy to provide a platform for a day, just adhere to five minutes, with a short, quick, quick to train students in computing power, memory and the development of students thinking skills. I considered skilled help written calculation, and easy to apply in everyday life. Layout and difficulty of the book is closely linked to primary mathematics framework, and with the junior high school algebra standards, easier than the primary school textbooks, to simplify the sum in writing, to strengthen the port operator, simple, easy and interesting. After the students through some practice, multi-digit addition, subtraction, multiplication and division operations from time to vertical columns, the number of direct written answer, Contents: First, the arithmetic Second, the location and direction of three, computing simple calculations with the law of four decimal places of significance and nature of the five, six triangles, decimal addition and subtraction seven, eight wide-angle math, the total review Four Satisfaction guaranteed, or money back.
