Paperback. 326 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.7in. The Presidential team has been assassinated half way through their second term and the Renegades have been held responsible. The people of the Americas quickly unify against the Renegades and all other religious fanatics known or suspected. Haasidis flock is prepared. All records of membership and involvement in the Hogan Diyin God, the House of the Holy God, had been rapidly destroyed. One day later, as the sun rose against the purple and pink shades of morning, more than four thousand people simply disappear. The mountainous regions of north east Arizona easily hid the groups of ten, twenty and thirty that sought refuge in their rocky terrain. Haasidis group of almost two hundred was made up of the mature warriors and they were proficient at living off the land. The size of the group made it a perfect decoy as well as a natural connecting point for the people who daily came to live in these mountains. Each new renegade was given an Indian name. All identification was removed and destroyed. Wedding rings were buried. Western garb was...
